The musical score consists of six staves of music. The top two staves are for voices (Soprano and Alto/Tenor), the middle two are for strings and woodwind (1st K.Horn), and the bottom two are for bassoon and drums. The vocal parts sing in German, with lyrics provided in both English and German. The orchestra parts provide harmonic support with sustained notes and rhythmic patterns. The score is set in common time, with various dynamics and performance instructions like 'ff' (fortissimo) and 'cresc.' (crescendo).

The musical score consists of six systems of music. The top two systems feature soprano and alto voices. The middle two systems feature bass and tenor voices. The bottom two systems feature piano accompaniment. The vocal parts have lyrics in German, and the piano parts show harmonic progression through chords. The score is set in common time, with various dynamics like forte (f) and piano (p) indicated.

This musical score page from Wagner's Tannhäuser, Act II, features ten staves of music. The top two staves show vocal parts with lyrics in English and German. The lyrics describe a cry of longing ("may we cry with lan - ge noch der Ruf - er - schal - le") and hail the Prince of Thüringen ("Prince of Thu - rin - gens"). The middle section contains lyrics for "rin - gia, Für - sten, Her - - mann, hail! Heil!" repeated twice. A dynamic instruction "12 Trumpets. (behind.)" is placed above the fifth staff. The bottom section continues with the same lyrics, followed by a final dynamic instruction "ff". The score uses a mix of treble and bass clefs, with various rests and note heads indicating the musical rhythm.

The musical score consists of eight staves of music for voice and piano. The voices sing in German, with lyrics provided for each section. The piano part provides harmonic support and includes dynamic markings like 'p.' (piano) and 'pp' (pianissimo). The score is set in common time, with various key changes indicated by key signatures. The vocal parts are written in soprano and bass clefs, and the piano part is in bass clef. The music is divided into sections by bar lines and measure numbers, with some sections spanning multiple staves.

(The ladies quit the Hall with gestures of dismay and horror; Elisabeth, who has heard the contest with growing alarm, alone remains, pale and trembling, supporting herself against one of the pillars of the royal canopy. The Landgrave, the Minstrels and Nobles have quitted their seats and stand together. Tannhäuser, at the extreme L.H., remains some time longer as in a trance.)

The musical score consists of several staves of music. At the top, a piano part (piano 1) is shown with dynamic markings ff and f dim.. Below it, a drum part is indicated with the text "Drums.". The vocal parts are as follows:

- Walter. Treble clef, G major, 2/4 time. No vocal line is present.

The musical score consists of ten staves. The top five staves are for voices (Soprano, Alto, Tenor, Bass, Bass) and the bottom five are for piano. The vocal parts sing in four-measure phrases, mostly in common time with a key signature of one sharp. The piano part provides harmonic support with eighth-note patterns. Measure numbers 178 through 187 are indicated at the bottom of the page.

The musical score consists of ten staves. The top two staves are soprano and alto vocal parts, both in treble clef. The next four staves are bass and tenor vocal parts, both in bass clef. The bottom two staves are double basses in bass clef. The vocal parts sing in unison, repeating the words 'guilt-y?' and 'Sün-der?'. The orchestra part at the bottom features a tutti dynamic (ff) and woodwind instruments (Wind.). The score is in common time, with various key changes indicated by sharps and flats.

The musical score consists of several staves. The top staff is for the soprano voice, with lyrics in English and German. The second staff is for the piano or harp, indicated by a 'P'. The third staff is for the bassoon ('Bsn.'), the fourth for the oboe ('Ob.'), and the fifth for the flute ('Fl.'). The sixth staff is for the strings ('Str.'), and the seventh for the horns ('Horns.'). The score includes dynamic markings like 'f' (fortissimo) and 'b2' (fortissimo with a crescendo arrow). The vocal line is continuous, with the piano/harp providing harmonic support. The instrumental parts provide rhythmic and harmonic texture, particularly in the lower octaves.

This musical score page from Wagner's Tannhäuser, Act II, features four staves of music. The top two staves are for voices (Soprano and Alto/Tenor) and the bottom two are for the orchestra (Oboe/Obs., Bassoon, Clarinet/C. & Tenor). The vocal parts have lyrics in both English and German. The orchestra part includes dynamic markings like 'più p', 'pp', 'ff dim.', and 'p trem.'. The score is set against a background of a landscape with hills and a path. The vocal parts begin with 'Heav'n _____ de - clare through me Got -' and continue with 'what is its will.' The orchestra part begins with 'The erring mortal, Who hath fallen within the Der Unglücksel'ge, den ge - fan-gen ein furchtbar'. The vocal parts then continue with 'wea - ry toils of sin,- How? dare ye close the heav'n - ly portal, Where' and 'mächt'ger Zau - ber hält,- wie? sollt' er nie zum Heil ge - langen durch'. The orchestra part continues with 'he on earth his shrift may win?' and 'Ren' und Buss' in die - ser Welt?'. The vocal parts end with 'If ye are strong in' and 'Die ihr so stark im'. The score is annotated with various dynamics, articulations, and performance instructions throughout.

D. Bass, Obs. & Cls.

This musical score page from Wagner's Tannhäuser, Act II, features six staves of music. The top five staves represent vocal parts, likely soprano, alto, tenor, bass, and another bass or baritone. The bottom staff represents the piano or organ, indicated by the instruction "Ins." (Instruments). The vocal parts sing a repetitive phrase in German: "hold, and see whom thou'st of - fend-ed! du schänd-li - cher Ver- rä-ther!" followed by "Thy Werd'". The piano part provides harmonic support with sustained notes and rhythmic patterns. Measure numbers 3 and 5 are visible at the bottom of the page.

The musical score consists of several systems of staves. The top section features a soprano vocal line with lyrics in both English ("maid?", "Though Darf") and German ("as ac - curs'd", "ich auch nicht"). The lyrics are repeated five times. The piano accompaniment is shown below, with various dynamics like 'cresc.' and 'dim.' indicated above the staff. The bottom section continues with the same vocal and piano parts, featuring a different set of lyrics: "heard the heav'n - ly maid?" and "er des En - gels Flehn?", followed by "Though as ac - curs'd" and "Darf ich auch nicht". The piano part includes a prominent bass line and some rhythmic patterns marked with '3'. The score is set in common time with a key signature of one sharp.

The musical score consists of ten staves. The top five staves are for voices (Soprano, Alto, Tenor, Bass, Bass), each with lyrics in English and German. The bottom five staves are for piano, showing bass and treble clef staves with various dynamics like 'dim.', 'p', and 'più p'. The vocal parts are mostly in eighth notes, while the piano parts are more rhythmic patterns. The lyrics describe a vision of heaven and its voice.

This musical score page from Wagner's Tannhäuser, Act II, features six staves of music. The top two staves are soprano voices, the third is alto, the fourth tenor, and the fifth bass. The sixth staff is for the piano. The vocal parts sing in German, with lyrics appearing below the notes. The piano part at the bottom includes dynamic markings like f, p, and più p, and rhythmic patterns such as sixteenth-note groups. The music is set in common time with a key signature of four sharps.

The musical score consists of ten staves. The top two staves are soprano and alto vocal parts, both in G major (two sharps) and common time. The soprano staff begins with a melodic line, while the alto staff provides harmonic support. The third staff is a bass vocal part, also in G major and common time. The fourth staff is a piano accompaniment, featuring sustained notes and chords. The fifth staff is another bass vocal part, in G major and common time. The sixth staff is a piano accompaniment. The seventh staff is a soprano vocal part, in G major and common time. The eighth staff is a piano accompaniment. The ninth staff is a bass vocal part, in G major and common time. The tenth staff is a piano accompaniment. The vocal parts are primarily in German, with lyrics such as 'All hope on earth re -', 'Mit freu - - - di - gem Er -', 'let me be for - giv - en', 'dass nur er ver - söh - net', 'shall surely find thee', 'den - noch er - rei - chen', 'shall surely find thee', 'un - less thou seek Heavn's', 'den - noch er - rei - chen', 'harrst du in Sünd' und', 'find thee', 'rei - chen', 'find thee', 'rei - chen', 'un - less thou seek Heavn's', 'harrst du in Sünd' und', 'shall surely den - noch er - find thee', 'un - less thou seek Heavn's', 'rei - chen', 'harrst', 'shall surely den - noch er - find thee', 'un - less thou seek Heavn's', 'rei - chen', 'harrst'. The piano parts provide harmonic context and rhythmic support, with specific dynamics like 'p' (piano) and 'pp' (pianissimo) indicated. The score is set against a background of vertical bar lines, indicating measures. The overall style is characteristic of Richard Wagner's operatic music, with its complex harmonies and dramatic vocal lines.
